

This is a list of German Prisoners of War that died while in captivity at Camp Bowie. They were initially buried at Jordan Springs Cemetery in a section set aside for POW burials. Those families that did not request their remains returned to Germany after the war, or whose next of kin could not be located, were re-interred in the Texas State Cemetery in Austin. No remains are at Jordan Springs Cemetery.

Two died from natural causes, one suicide, one accident falling from moving truck and one with findings consistent with being run over or trauma causing internal hemorrhage.
